Resolution Adopted by the Executive Committee of the New York City News
Association, March 3, 1916:

RESOLVED, That this report is the property of the New York City News Association issued by its members for their information only.

Its contents are confidential and in no shape or form are they to be given publicity.

To the Members of the New York City News Association

In accordance with the resolution below, the report following is respectfully submitted for your consideration:

Resolution, Adopted December 15, 1915

WHEREAS, the suburban news facilities of the New York newspapers have proved both uncertain and unduly expensive after years of separate organization,

RESOLVED, that the manager of the New York City News Association be requested to make detailed estimates on the cost of extending the Association's field over New Jersey as far south as Trenton and the coast as far south as Atlantic City, the seven New York counties of Westchester, Rockland, Kings, Queens, Richmond, Suffolk and Nassau, and that portion of Connecticut included in the townships of Greenwich and Stamford.

COST.

To cover the proposed territory under the plan presented the weekly cost would be $2,345.30, which, divided among the members under our assessment system, would call for an extra weekly assessment on each morning paper of $132.75; on each afternoon paper $88.50 and on The Associated Press, holding both morning and afternoon membership, $221.25. The details, carefully worked out, are, of necessity, a means to an end and will, as the operations of the service progress, be subject to readjustment but not in such a degree as to affect much the financial end. Therefore it may be safely assured that this readjustment will not tend to an increase of expense.

METHOD.

To secure the best results at a minimum expense a compromise, between the present bureau salary scheme and the old space system of the newspaper, has been deemed wise. The salary method, at first thought, would seem the right thing, but under the present condition of correspondents' activities, it would tend to incomplete service. Correspondents employed would have other connections and where their compensation was for space it is natural there would be their greatest effort. This would be true even if salaries larger than ordinary were paid. Therefore with a small guarantee and a space system of payment for matter, the bureau would be benefited to the same degree as the newspapers.

Space in a newspaper can be measured with a degree of certainty, but in the bureau system of handling news such space measurement did not, at first, seem practical. It has, however, been worked out. It is proposed to pay for matter sent to members over the tickers and not such as they may publish; the basis of payment to be made by line measurement, with so many words to the line. The ticker system of delivery will enable the bureau to keep a complete record of this outgoing matter, a record that will prove the pay-roll and serve as a check for audit.

A subject that has occasioned serious thought is that of telegraph and telephone tolls. With the elaborate system of correspondents it is evident that unnecessary expense will, at times, be incurred and a check is necessary to keep it to a minimum. My plan is to instruct the correspondents as to just the class of matter we do, and do not, want, and cut out the unnecessary query, unless the subject is not dealt with in instructions. A necessary query will show an oversight that can be corrected in added instructions. A weekly schedule, by mail, of stated events, will enable the manager to order, also by mail, the subjects to be covered and about the number of words desired in this service.

In the organization of such a service the correspondent, his capability and reliability, will be more closely scrutinized than in regular newspaper service, as the success of the bureau would be its absolute accuracy. The bureau would be, to a certain extent, at the mercy of its correspondents, not having, as in the case of a newspaper, checks in the way of supplemental service.

PLAN.

The plan calls for the employment of 158 men to gather, compile and distribute the news of 21 counties including 923 towns. Of this force 14 would be in the main office of the Association, 70 in New Jersey, 30 in Kings County, 9 in Queens County, 6 in Nassau County, 7 in Suffolk County, 3 in Richmond County, 13 in Westchester County, 4 in Rockland County, and 2 in Connecticut.

The detail of men, their duties and expense of employment are given in the tables that follow. Each county, both on maps and tables, is designated by a letter; each correspondent's district by a numeral. The large dot indicates the key town of each district, the smaller the other towns in this territory. In the tables under each key town will be found the names of the smaller towns. Towns taken from one county and included in other county districts, will be found both in the table of the county from which they were taken, and in the table of the county to which they have been transferred. In addition, a glance at the index in the rear of the report will locate any county or town in this plan.

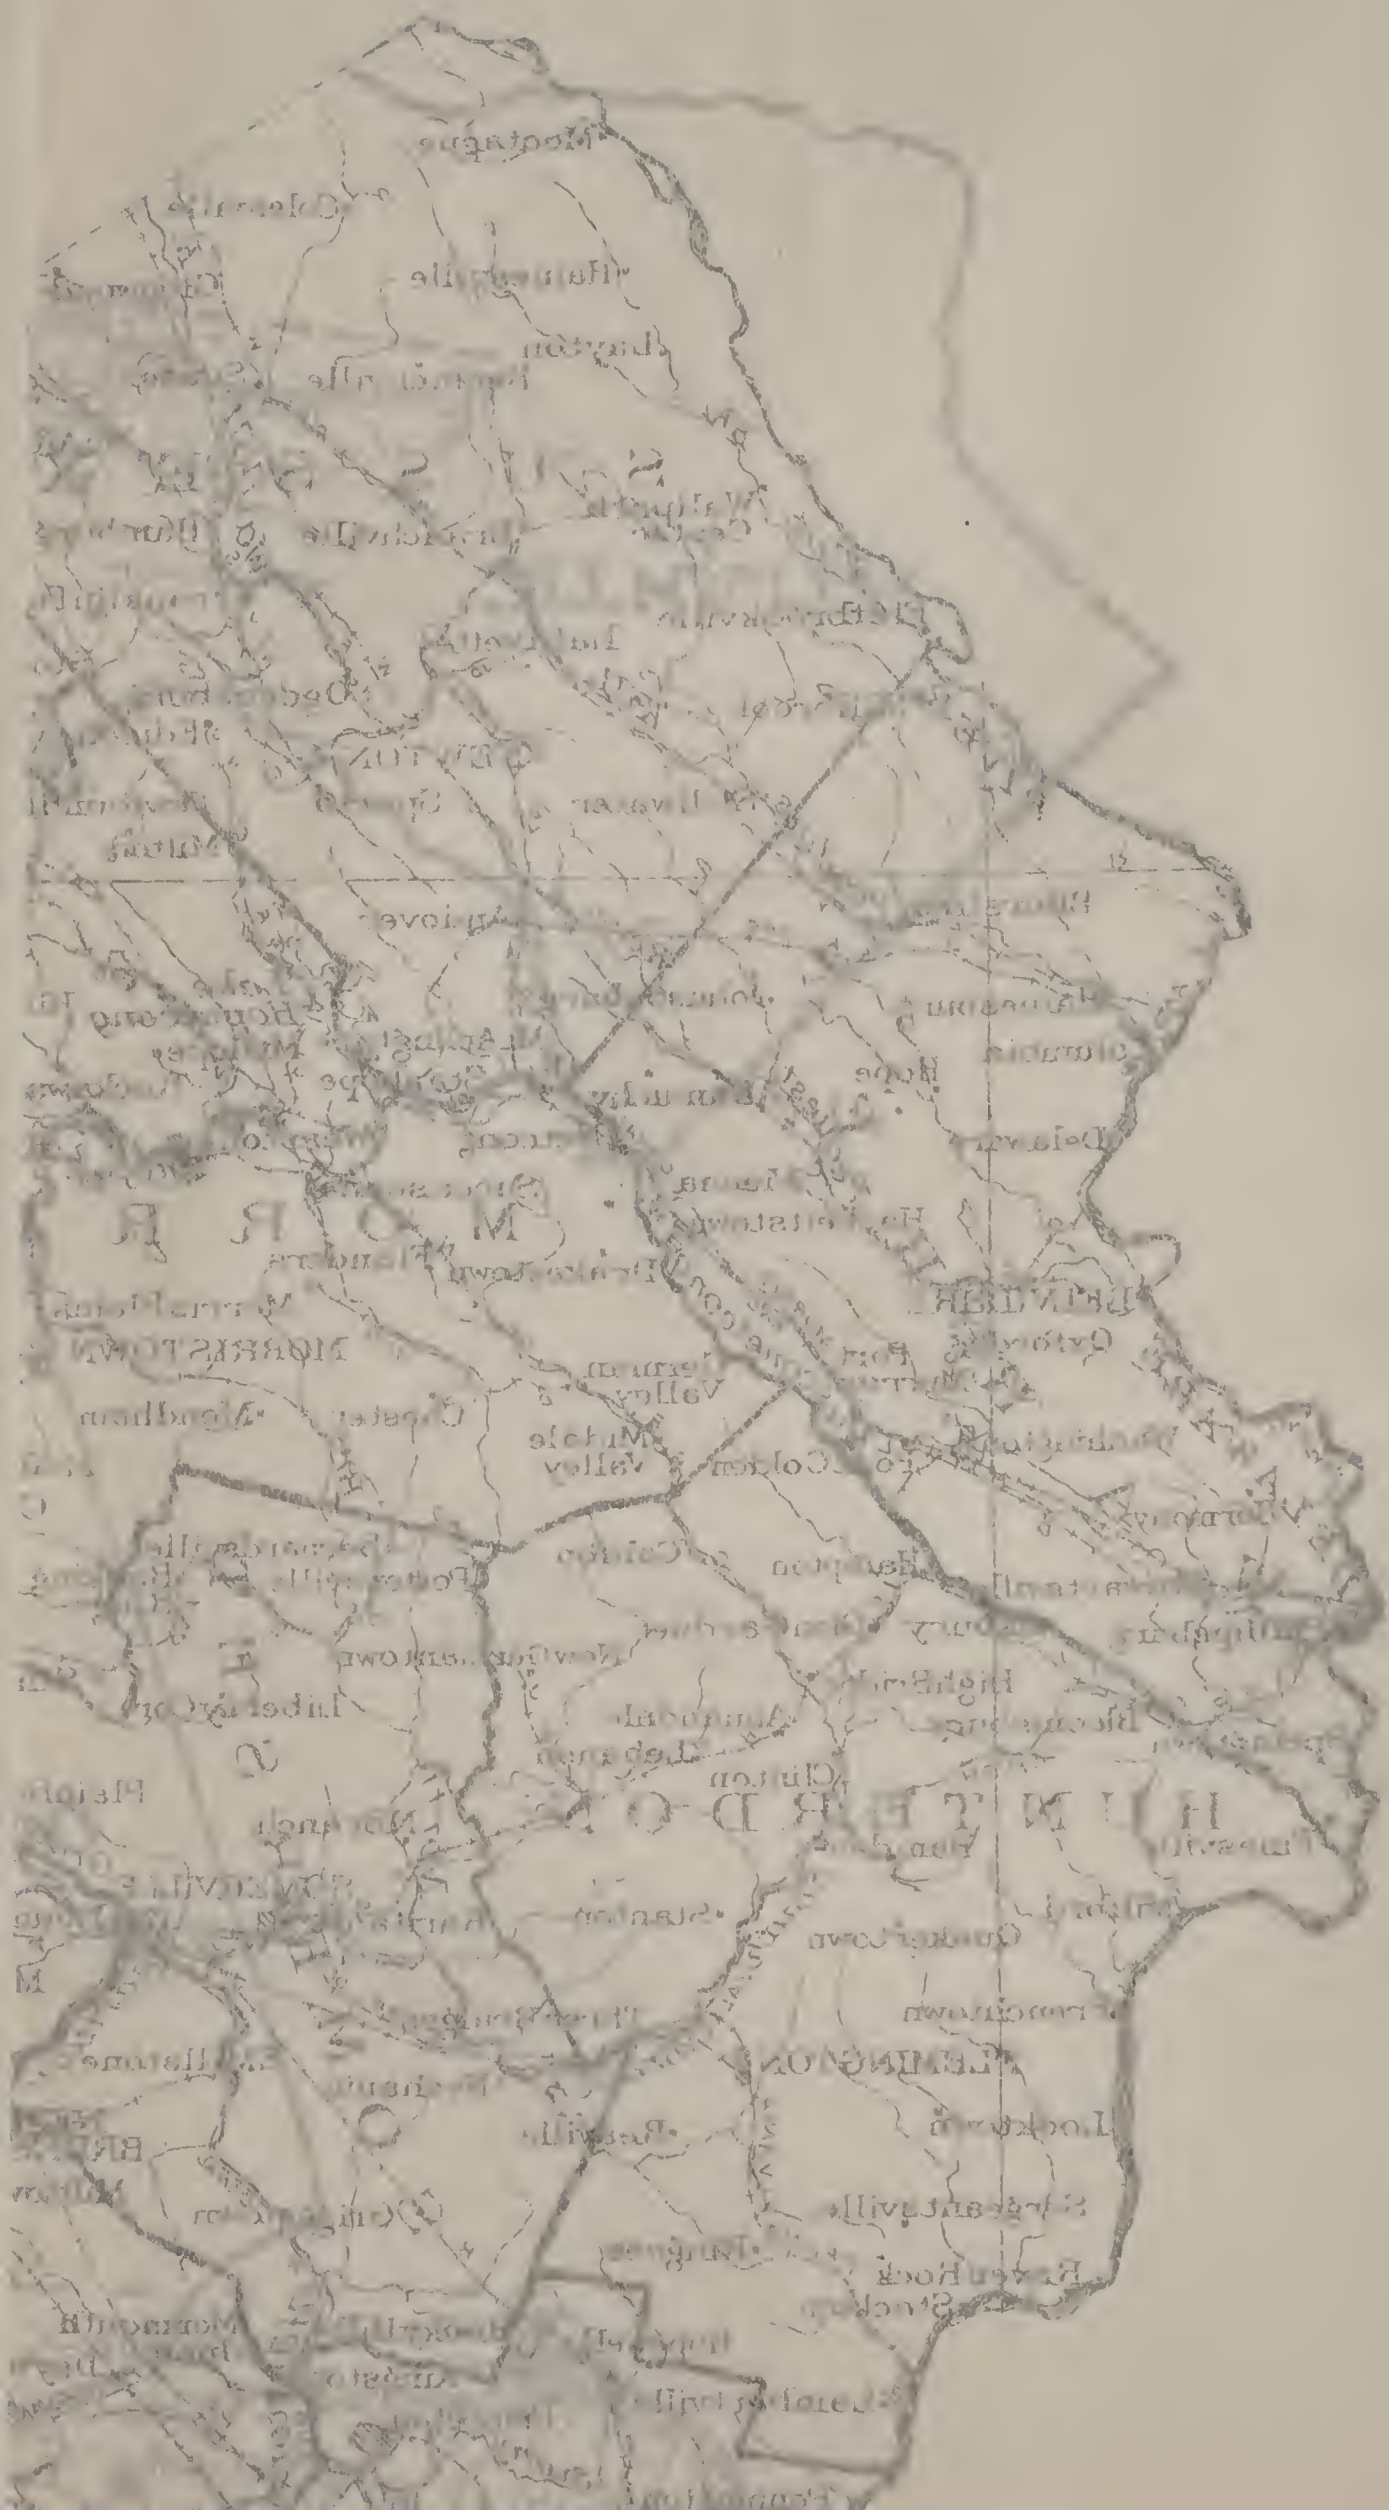

PROPOSED EXTENDED TERRITORY
OF THE
NEW YORK CITY NEWS ASSOCIATION
1916.
